
MPA Invites You To Join! Become a partner in the important responsibility of conserving, restoring, and reusing Milwaukee's historic resources.

With your support, Milwaukee Preservation Alliance:

- Leads efforts, with the National Trust for Historic Preservation, to restore buildings at the Milwaukee Soldiers Home so that they can once again provide care and services to area veterans.
- Advocates for an effective Historic Preservation Ordinance. MPA members attended and testified on behalf of the importance of historic preservation at the March 2012 city review of the drastically revised ordinance being proposed. The sponsor of the new legislation responded to public outcry and agreed to work with the community to improve the ordinance. MPA reviewed and commented on drafts of the new ordinance, finally approved in December. The ordinance contains compromises like a requirement to charge a fee when filing an application for a designation, but drops the most concerning provisions, like allowing property owners to opt out from an historic district. There are improvements such as addressing the threat of demolition by neglect and now the process for applying for certificates of appropriateness is more straight-forward.
- Works to educate decision makers on the economic benefits of historic preservation. MPA helped to bring internationally renowned real estate expert Donovan Rypkema to Milwaukee to speak to area business leaders, city officials, and local historic preservationists about the economic benefits associated with historic preservation.
- Advocates for the preservation and restoration of the Milwaukee County Ground Eschweiler Buildings. MPA has met with the Mandel Group, the President of the Wauwatosa common council, and members of the community to find a way to restore and secure the future of these buildings which are recognized for their importance by their listing on the National Register of Historic Places.
